To: Tyler

Hi Tyler,

Your achievements in Industry are nothing short of ground breaking. You've built something remarkable, and your contributions continue to inspire and elevate the industry as a whole.

In Q2 of 2025, an invitation-only event in the USA will unite forward-thinking leaders like you. I would love to discuss how you could contribute to this high-impact gathering.

Are you open to a brief conversation?

Best regards,

To set up a basic Kubernetes test environment on your Mac, follow these steps:

1. Install Kubernetes Tools

You'll need `kubectl`, a local Kubernetes cluster (e.g., Minikube or kind), and a container runtime (Docker).

Install Homebrew (if not already installed)

sh

/bin/bash -c "$(curl -fsSL https://raw.githubusercontent.com/Homebrew/install/HEAD/in
```

Install Kubernetes CLI (`kubectl`)

sh

```
brew install kubectl

Install Docker (if not already installed)

It won't be long until AI will be writing all the code for Helper, Flexile, and Gumroad. My guess is by the end of 2026.

1. Sit and chat about what we need to build, doing research with Deep Research as we go.
2. Have AI record everything and turn it into a spec.
3. Clean up the spec, adding any design requirements / other nuances.
4. Have Devin code it up.
5. QA, merge, (auto-)deploy to prod.
